Who has sponsored us in the past?

For 15 years, the Bay Area Biomedical Device Conference has been made possible by the generous support of industry sponsors. More than 50 companies and organizations have sponsored our conference; 47% of our sponsors have returned for multiple conferences. Past sponsors span large multinational corporations and local startups, all united by a shared commitment to supporting the Bay Area biomedical engineering community:

How are Sponsorship Funds Used?

Sponsorships support all aspects of this student-run conference including:

- Travel support for outstanding speakers from out of town or abroad,
- Catering, materials, and supplies for conference participants,
- Affordable registration rates for professionals
- Highly subsidized registration rates for students.

Surplus funds support all other SJSU BMES activities, including travel to the national Biomedical Engineering Society Annual Conference, field trips to local biomedical companies, and networking events, among others.
